BRIEF REPORT

Department of Computer Science and Engineering, Avanathi Institute of Engineering and Technology had organized a certificate course on “DevOps and S/E” during 24-8-2020 to 29-8-2020.

We had Resource Person 1: Dr.R. Rajeswararao, Professor, Department of Computer Science and Engineering, JNTU Vizianagaram was explained every detail about DevOps S/E. DevOps engineer is an IT person who is a part of both development and operation means DevOps engineers work on code with the developer team, oversee the code releases, and manages the deployment and operation processes. For proper integration and running of software, they work with the product operation team also. A DevOps engineer requires knowledge of programming, management, Knowledge of DevOps principles, problem-solving skills, organizational skills, etc.

Resource person 2: Dr. Bode Prasad, Professor, Department of Information Technology, VIIT, Duvvada, Visakhapatnam was explained about AWS Console Mobile App, AWS Account, AWS Relational Database services. Deploying and managing databases is one of the most complex, time-consuming, and expensive activities in IT. Amazon RDS removes this complexity by automating many of the undifferentiated but time-consuming and critical administrative tasks such as hardware provisioning, software installation and patching, storage management, and backups for disaster recovery. This enables developers and database administrators to free up time to focus on innovation.
